

GUIDE:

The Best NYC Rooftops For Eating & Drinking

TELL YOUR FRIENDS

By Bryan Kim

Refinery Rooftop

Midtown

63 W 38th St

MAP

The Refinery Hotel is surrounded by about 1,000 different office buildings, so you're going to find a lot of people trying to hang out out here after work. You might even have trouble getting a table. If you want to play it safe, make a reservation. This is a pretty casual rooftop with some brick walls and comfy chairs, and there's both an indoor and an outdoor area. It's great for groups, so find a bunch of coworkers you don't mind, and bring them up here. If someone's hungry, there's a lot of decent bar food. Flatbreads, kale salad - that sort of stuff.

