

ST. PATRICK'S DAY in NYC-The Luck of the Irish

A vertical stack of social media icons (Facebook, Twitter, Email) on the left, and a square image of a green background with clovers on the right.

Saint Patrick's Day, also known as the Feast of Saint Patrick, is annually held on March 17. It is both a cultural and religious celebration that marks the traditional death date of Saint Patrick, the leading patron saint of Ireland.

The personal finance website, WalletHub has determined the best cities for celebrating Irish-American heritage. They compared 200 of the largest U.S. cities across 17 key metrics, ranging from Irish pubs and restaurants per capita to lowest price for a three-star hotel on St. Patrick's Day to the weather forecast. They report that New York is 1st in Irish pubs and restaurants per Capita.

So get out and celebrate. There's the big parade up 5th Avenue and restaurants with holiday specials. We've rounded up a few ways that you can share the "Luck of the Irish" on that special day with friends and family.

Trademark Taste + Grind (Midtown) They are collaborating with Guinness for a week long celebration! Visit between Monday, March 12 - Sunday, March 18 for Guinness infused menu additions crafted by Trademark Taste + Grind's Executive Chef, Adrienne Guttieri. Indulge in a Guinness Flourless Chocolate Cake, Guinness Caramelized Onion Soup with irish cheddar croutons, or a Trademark Cookie Skillet with Guinness syrup and bourbon ice cream. Wash it all down with one of four specialty cocktails. Visit: <http://www.trademarktaste.com/>.

The Same Paige

